In any civilized community well to constructed and well kept roads and highways, connecting cities and towns, are absolutely essential to the comfort and well-being of the people, and the tax thereby imposed on property owners by their construction and maintenance, is so infinitesimally small as not to affect any individual very materially.

The building of good roads appeals to every man, woman and child, and for the time being we should eliminate all other issues and all pult together its for the heating of bedrooms and living for the time being we should eliminate all other issues and all pult together its for that which is of vital interest to the whole State.

ANTI-SPITTING LAW TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED HEREAFTER FLUME CONTEST

Orders Issued to Police Department to Go After Offenders Under Statute and City Ordinance, Beginning Monday—The Penalties.

Beginning Monday morning a State law and city ordinance prohibiting spitting on the sidewalks, street cars and crossings, which have been practically a dead letter in this city, will be enforced by the Police Department. A conference was held yesterday between Police Justice Crutchfield, Chief of Police Werner and Chief Health Officer Levy, the result of which was the announcement to the public that on and after Monday both laws would be rigidly enforced, the Police Justice Informating that those who could a refor to pay for expectorating on the sidewalks and floory of street cars could pay the maximum fine. Those who cannot afford the law has long without or go to jail.

The menace to health from indiscriminate violation of the law has long been recognized, and to this serious menace combated by the Board of Health is added the protest of women. The law is plain, and the instructions of Major Werner to his men as to its enforcement are still plainer. The habit will stop or the city will be relieved of the necessity of raising laxes, for the appearance of any single block on Broad Street, or of almost any street car in the city, would indicate that the city would be rich
